Manufacturers to ban 'microbeads' that are polluting Great Lakes

Traverse City, Mich. (AP)

-Environmentalists in Illinois expected a battle over their call for a statewide ban on "microbeads"- tiny bits of plastic used in personal care products such as facial scrubs and toothpaste that are flowing by the billions into the Great Lakes and other waterways.

Discovered only recently, they're showing up inside fish that are caught for human consumption, scientists said.

But instead of resisting, leading companies quickly collaborated on a ban that was enacted by the state legislature this spring. And with similar measures now pending in at least three other large states and in Congress, the extinction of microbeads is taking shape as one of the unlikeliest events in the politics of nature: a low-stress compromise by interest groups that are often at each other's throats.

"To have that happen in one year is rare," said Jen Walling of the Illinois Environmental Council, recalling the pessimistic response when she initially sought legislative sponsors. "I was not predicting we'd get it done at all."

Don't get used to it, said Mark Biel of the Chemical Industry Council of Illinois, which represented the product manufacturers during three months of negotiations. The quick deal resulted from unique circumstances, he said, including the availability of substitute ingredients.

Fish is good out of Northpoint. Limits of cohos are biting in the thirty to sixty feet of water on standard 00 dodgers and action flasher. Plastic flashers like the Pro King Dragon Slayer, Stinger Super Frog, and Pearl Fish Scale Hot Spots are catching kings with Little Boy Blue and Aqua Flies. Som of the hot spoons are Moonshine Nightcrawler, RV Mongolian Beef, Stinger Carmel Dolphin and Kevorkian.

2nd Monthly Tournament Held on June 22nd

The Randy Smith Boat took second place. Randy had as his quests two active duty Navy Men and his mom, visiting from California.

The Jerry Vigansky Boat took first place and biggest fish at 8.4 lbs. The Vigansky team of Steve Rueter, Dave Slaten and Jerry Vigansky had a great time and a good catch.

The Department of the Interior representatives were checking all the fish heads for a study. These gentlemen are new college grads working for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. It was a pleasure to talk with them.

While the fog rolled in and out and back in again, a dedicated group cooked, served and ate a mighty fine feast

The re-opening of the yellow perch, at the shores of Lake Michigan was on the morning of June 16th. A few perch were caught, but there were more anxious fishermen than the elusive morsals, as the bite was slow for most shoreline fishermen.

The fishing for the shoreline fishers will pick up with the rising temperatures and the breezes coming out of a westerly direction.

Remember the following old saying?

“When the wind is from the North the fishermen go forth: When the wind is from the East the fish bite the least: When the wind is from the South the hook goes in the fishes mouth: When the wind is from the West the fish bite the best”.

So lets all hope for Westerly winds so the surface water is puled out into the lake and the cooler water comes in underneath, along with hopefully, the Perch.

Fish mapping tool available on line

An online fish locator map is now available to help anglers find where the state's fish species are located.

The tool—a joint venture of the state Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Geological Survey—uses results from fish surveys dating back 130 years.

It produces detailed maps and tables of occurrences and relative quantity of all fish species and hybrids reported by the state. The map allows anyone to search the locations of more than 160 species by county or habitat types; users can zoom in on specific bodies of water to see what is in them.

The map is available at https://cida.usgs.gov/wdnr_fishmap/map/.

The Kenosha Sport fishing and Conservation Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to the protection and proper utilization of the Great Lakes resources. Established in 1969 by local family fisherman, we continue to focus on conservation of the Great Lakes. For over 40 years the K.S.F.C.A. has worked to support our community and the Great Lakes through various activities and educational programs. Some current examples include: kids fishing programs, fly tying classes, Pike river clean-up efforts, and stocking Lake Michigan with over 40,000 Chinook salmon annually.

If you would like to support these activities, please contact us by phone, mail, or email. We welcome anyone interested in becoming a member. If you are not interested in becoming a member, but would still like to support these important activities in our community, we do accept financial donations.
