4th Annual Pike River Revival September 22nd Be there!

The primary goal of this project is to remove debris, including log jams, that prevent the natural flow of the river. With additional goals of increased water quality, safety, riverbank preservation, beautification, and recreation. This is the river where the KSFCA / WDNR salmon stocking occurs each year. Unfortunately when the fish return to spawn they face too many obstacles to be successful. (Two examples are shown in these photo's). With the upcoming decline in target stocking levels in the Lake Michigan fishery, it becomes even more important that as an organization we do whatever we can to provide natural spawning opportunities for these fish.

Target areas for clean up this year during the Pike River Revival

The Pike River Revival will take place on Saturday, September 22nd 8am-3pm (October 6th if inclement weather). Meet at the entrance of Petrifying Springs Park, county road JR at 8am for registration. We will have a tented gathering for all volunteers to register, receive instructions and obtain materials. The WDNR will be present to advise in proper procedures and to promote conservation. For more information please contact Jim Zondlak pikeriver@ymail.com 262-620-1680

Fly Fishing, the ultimate sport-fishing challenge

By Jack Springer

No one fishes well when he is too cold or too hot, when wet or miserable, or being chewed on by mosquitoes, flies and in some cases ticks. You not only need decent bug free weather to fly fish in, but you also need some essential fly fishing gear.

On a given day certain equipment is needed by all fly fishermen. Some fly fishermen fish the same streams and rivers, lakes and ponds; so their fly fishing gear doesn't change too much at all. Then again, some fly fishermen change their location to fish many times in a season of fishing. It just depends how, when, and where you want to fish.

General accessories are located somewhere on a fishing vest with at least six zippered pockets, and a rear large storage pocket for carrying a light weight rain poncho. The vest should be waterproof if possible, and the pockets should easily handle your largest fly boxes. Essential tools can be attached to spring loaded lanyards or zingers (the tools used frequently, you want as convenient as possible) and these essential tools are: clippers, forceps, and dry fly floatant. Other important tools and fly fishing gear are an assortment of tippet materials, a pocket devoted to tapered leaders, assorted split shot, a nail clipper, a small pocket knife, a knot tying tool, a small pliers, and very small screwdriver and of course your polarized sunglasses (essential to eliminating water glare and aids in seeing fish in the water).

Another item that can make your fishing experience great is to remember the bug spray. You want your fly vest to be as light as possible, and a loose comfortable fit, and waterproof. You will probably get it wet by falling, stumbling, or taking a header in the water when wading or walking in unfamiliar streams or rivers. Speaking of falls in the water, wading sticks are available to aid in crossing fast moving streams and rivers. Another very important thing to remember is the buddy system that could save your life. Beware of foreign rivers and streams, for all of them have deeper pocket or pool waters that are deeper than you realize. Err on the side of caution; no fish is worth taking a life.

Next month: boots, waders, and some surprises to compliment your fly gear. Nice going Dave Slayton in catching the largest lake trout at the 2012 Salmon-A-Rama.

Why does a hippo have red toenails?

So they can hide in a cherry tree.

Why did Paul Revere take the midnight ride?

Cause he missed the ten o'clock bus.

Lake Michigan Angler Report

Fishing Report for 8/28/12

Fishing out of Northpoint Marina has been good lately. Kings and lakers are being caught near the bottom anywhere from seventy to one hundred and forty feet of water. Flashers and flies are the hot set ups for kings. Kingfisher II in Magda Glow Onyx, Purple Onion, and Casper Glow have been good for chinooks with white or aqua flies. Big lakers are biting Spin n Glows behind Chrome 0 dodgers and magnum orange spoons.

Kenosha harbor charter report

Fishing Report for 8/28/12

Mornings the charters are starting on the hill and moving east as permitted, dodgers and flies are working the best. Afternoons starting deeper 120 to 200 foot of water again dodgers and flies are working the best. Average catches between 10 and 20 fish per trip.
