The Wisconsin Federation of Great Lake Sport Fishing Clubs

The Wisconsin Federation of Great Lake Sport Fishing Club meetings are open to all members, of which the KSFCA is a member. There is a scheduled quarterly meeting coming up for the Wisconsin Federation of Great Lakes Sport Fishing Clubs on Saturday, April 1. It will be held from 8:30 to noon at the Outboard Club at 732 N. Water street, Sheboygan, WI. Coffee and rolls will be available at 8:00.

The DNR, Wisconsin Sea Grant, Conservation Congress, Wisc Wildlife Federation all usually send reps. A speaker will present on topics of interest to all anglers.

If you cannot make this meeting, the remaining meetings scheduled for 2017 are September 9, 2017 and December 2, 2017. Two of the officers for the WFLSFC are Mark Hasenberg, Treasurer and Lynn Davis, Secretary. All are welcome. President Bob Wincek, and Rick Jones, Vice President round out the team. Always good information.

The stocking of trout and salmon for 2017 is in full swing!! This is why we are dedicated to the future of sport fishing in Kenosha, to make sure we have fish for generations to come.

Stocking numbers so far;

March 6th 9,700 Coho

March 14th 32,200 brown trout

March 23rd 6,500 rainbow trout

Once again, the KSFCA will be receiving between 45,000-50,000 king salmon to raise in our rearing pond the week of April 24th.

Fishing Report

Courtesy of: Lake Michigan Angler

Steelhead fishing is still good on the Root River. Tube jigs with wax worms have been the best of choice. Fish are in all parts of the river. In Kenosha Harbor brown trout are biting golden roaches, gulp minnows and Berkley Flicker Shad. On the fox chain, crappies are biting small minnows in the channels.

Protecting Lake Michigan While protecting Illinois taxpayers

Article courtesy of Chicago Tribune Feb. 24, 2017

By: Evelyn Sanguinetti
February 24, 2017, 3:37

No one has a bigger stake in the fight to keep Asian carp and other aquatic invasive species out of the Great Lakes than the state of Illinois.

For the last 25 years, under each succeeding administration, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources has worked in partnership with other state and federal stakeholders and sportsmen to successfully stall Asian carp migration more than 60 miles below Lake Michigan near Dresden Island, in the Des Plaines River south of Joliet. These efforts have reduced the number of Asian bighead and silver carp by more than two-thirds. To date, no Asian carp has successfully passed through the three Army Corps-engineered electric fish barriers located in the Chicago Area Waterway System at Romeoville.

Despite this irrefutable record of success in keeping Asian carp far away from our lake, on Feb. 28 the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is expected to unveil the "next phase" in its ongoing strategy to do what it already has done: Keep the Asian carp out of Lake Michigan.

The Corps of Engineers is excellent at what it does; it builds things. Yet should the Corps' Brandon Road Tentatively Selected Plan recommend, as expected, the construction of "an engineered channel, another electric barrier, water jets and noise cannons, and the first-of-its-kind flushing lock system," the price will be steep. Current estimates range between $230 million and $270 million for construction, plus $8 million to $10 million in annual operation and maintenance costs.

The Kenosha Sport fishing and Conservation Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to the protection and proper utilization of the Great Lakes resources. Established in 1969 by local family fisherman, we continue to focus on conservation of the Great Lakes. For over 40 years the K.S.F.C.A. has worked to support our community and the Great Lakes through various activities and educational programs. Some current examples include: kids fishing programs, fly tying classes, Pike river clean-up efforts, and stocking Lake Michigan with over 40,000 Chinook salmon annually.

If you would like to support these activities, please contact us by phone, mail, or email. We welcome anyone interested in becoming a member. If you are not interested in becoming a member, but would still like to support these important activities in our community, we do accept financial donations.
